The Cuban Experts Committee that has studied the alleged acoustic attacks to American diplomats in Havana, invites you to participate on Wednesday November 15th, 2017 from 9 am to 3 pm, Cuba time, in the Cuban website Red Cubana de la Ciencia, in the online forum: Scientific exchange on the alleged acoustic attacks occurred in Havana, which will continue the following day, 16th, starting at 10 am.

Online Forum Address (URL):
<http://supuestosataques.redciencia.cu>

The main objective is to exchange information and opinions with the international scientific community and other interested parties.

Background information; the government of the United States has assured that its diplomats in Havana have suffered symptoms caused by sonic attacks. These diplomats have reported hearing sounds within their residencies and the following “symptoms”: nausea, headaches, balance disorders, hearing loss, facial and abdominal pain, memory disorders and concussions. Thus, the debate will be focused on the following questions:

- 1. Can the described symptoms be a consequence of sonic agents?*
- 2. Could other diseases provoke such symptoms?*

3. Are causes of psychosocial nature a possibility?

The Cuban Experts Committee has not even been able to access the medical tests done to the “affected”. Only one medical report was received lacking basic data and the audio samples delivered by the American authorities were analyzed. Despite these limitations, a thorough investigation was carried out.

The Cuban Experts Committee comprises the following disciplines: physics, telecommunications engineering, internal medicine, neurology, neurophysiology, otorhinolaryngology, audiology, epidemiology, environmental health, entomology, psychology and sociology.

In addition to the online exchange; on the same page (<http://supuestosataques.redciencia.cu>) it will be possible to have access to videos and articles that the Cuban Experts Committee also makes available for consideration.
